? What is the GEC Lounge Intercultural Communication Workshop?

It's a free class where Chukyo University Japanese students and international students can participate together. Although the lessons are conducted in English, both Japanese and English can be used during group work! Rather than simply learning, the focus is on students working together to complete a task, making it a unique and collaborative lesson. All International students at Chukyo University (Exchange students and degree-seeking students) are welcome to participate.
